A peep at one of the Glasshouses at Lasscock's Nurseries, where many thousands of beautiful Hydrangeas are grown for the Christmas trade.

HOW TO GROW CERBERAS

HE Gerbera, or Barberton Daisy, comes from South Africa, but a remarkable improvement from the original introduction is seen in the new hybrids which flower lovers in the warmer parts of Australia now cultivate in their gardens. The original Gerbera grown here was that known as "Gerbera Jamesoni"—a pretty, deep scarlet variety, the parent of the new race of hybrids introduced

The Garden Beautiful

NOT by plants alone are gardens made beautiful. Arches for roses, pergolas for climbers, lattice and garden seats constructed from timber add distinction and charm, providing a setting for trees, shrubs and flower borders that can be obtained in no other way.

In carrying out garden improvements we will be pleased to make helpful suggestions and supply the right material for the construction of pergolas, shade houses, trellis, gateways, garages, etc. Jarrah garden edging and jarrah stakes for dahlias, roses etc., we also supply.

No order is too small to receive our best attention. Let us quote you.

Salvia "Bonfire."—This variety makes a glorious scarlet show. Plant it in masses for best effect. Strong plants, 1/- dozen.

some twenty years ago by M. Adnet, a Frenchman who evolved new colors in the flower that has become so deservedly popular.

Enthusiasts in Australia, by careful selection of the original hybrids, and by subsequent cross fertilisation, have brought about a great improvement in these flowers, which are of various colors, and possess long-keeping qualities when cut and placed in water.

Not all amateurs are successful in raising the plants from seed, or if they do raise them, they fail in bringing them to maturity. There is no difficulty in growing the plants, however, if one handles sturdy seedlings or crowns derived from a good strain of stock plants.

The Gerbera is a warm climate lover; plantings made too near the approach of winter may go off, but this will not be the case if plants are put out during spring or summer.

Gerberas need protection from cold winds and frosts, although when well established there is little fear in this respect in South Australia and other parts with like warm climatic conditions. In cold country they are not a success.

Some folk say that, coming from South Africa, they require to be grown in poor soil under hard conditions, but this is not so; the plants respond to good soil and attention. Given good drainage in a light, medium rich sandy loam, well supplied with lime, they will do well. Heavy loam will require some sand to lighten it before planting.

Gerbera plants, when grown under right conditions, will quickly increase in bulk, and give a wealth of bloom from early summer right through until autumn. If an increase is desired, the old plants may be lifted in spring, divided, and the portions replanted in well-drained soil; but yearly division is not advisable if a good show is desired.

Not only are the flowers of the Gerbera good to look at, but the foliage of the plant is also beautiful in autumn. The tinted leaves, if arranged with the flowers, combine to make a delightful decorative effect.

—oOo—

THE GOLDEN GLORY CREEPER. ("Thungergia Gibsonia.")

This glorious climber does particularly well if supported with wire netting, and will give a wealth of deep orange tubular flowers during many months of the year. It is particularly useful for covering wire around tree stumps, or for planting in rockeries. For table display, bouquets, or posies the blooms are particularly good. We can supply plants in pots at 2/6 each.

HARDY CLIMBERS.—All varieties may be planted now. We can supply the best varieties in pots. See our Catalogue for descriptions.

GARDEN CALENDAR

DECEMBER.

SEED SOWING.

FLOWER SEEDS.—Sow where the plants are to flower: Asters, Balsam, Cosmos, Celosia, Phlox, Portulacca, Sunflower, Zinnia. Cover with a mulch of old manure, and keep soil moist. A few Early-flowering Sweet Peas may be sown at the end of the month, to give early autumn flowers.

SOW IN SEED BEDS OR BOXES.—Antirrhinum, Delphinium, Petunias, Dianthus, Salvia, French and African Marigold, Ranunculus, Anemone, Pansies, Viola. Use deep boxes, containing a fair amount of soil, so that it will not dry out quickly. Place a good layer of spent manure over the drainage material to act as a "sponge," holding moisture.

SOW UNDER GLASS.—Begonia, Cineraria, Cyclamen, Primula Malacoides, and other Primula varieties.

VEGETABLE SEEDS.—Sow Celery for early planting, Cucumber, Melon, Marrow, Trombone, Pumpkin, Cress, Mutsard, French and Runner Beans, Radish, Lettuce, Silver Beet, Sweet Corn, Leek, Cabbage and Cauliflower for early planting. Water seeds beds and boxes night and morning during hot weather, and protect the surface by a light mulch of old manure. Plant Potatoes.

PLANT OUT.

SEEDLINGS OF SUMMER ANNUALS, ETC.—Asters, Antirrhinums, African and French Marigold, Petunia, Salvia, Sunflower, Ageratum, Zinnia, Calliopsis, Geum, Gaillardia, Centaurea, Portulacca, Cosmos, Cockscomb, Dianthus, Verbena, etc. Should the sun be severe, shade all summer plantings for a few days by using tree or shrub branches stuck in around the plants, or by other means.

SHRUBS AND CLIMBERS, such as Lantanas, Hibiscus, Geraldton Wax Flower, Flowering Gums, Buddleas, Tecomas, Bougainvillea, etc. Shade for a few days, and keep soil always moist.

DAHLIAS.—Plant all varieties any time during the month. For exhibition blooms, choose the second or third week. Shade "green plants until they become established. Use tree branches around each. Do not over-water. Growers in sandy soil must pay the more constant attention to watering than growers on stiff soils. Do not allow the roots or tubers to come into direct contact with manured soil. Surround with sand, or soil free from manure.

OTHER OPERATIONS.

Mulch all Flower and Vegetable beds, or keep the surface soil stirred. Water freely. Remove spent blooms from Roses, and give plenty of water. Cut back Rambler Roses after flowering. Cut and roll lawns regularly. Sow Couch Grass seed, or plant roots. Repare ground for sowing Early-flowering Sweet Peas.

Take up and store bulbs in sand until planting in March. Bulbs such as Daffodils, growing in special beds, may remain in the ground for two or three years, but not in the mixed flower beds, where the resting period is disturbed by the watering of other plants. A mulch will benefit bulbs left in the ground.

Lasscock's
Garden Reminder

HEDGES.—Clip growing hedges to encourage dense growth.

CHRYSTANTHEMUMS should be cut back now. Also cut back the flowering stems of Geums, Heuchera, Aquilegias, and similar herbaceous plants that have finished flowering. Delphiniums, if cut back to the base of the plants, will produce new growths to carry more flowers.

SOW YOUR PHLOX SEED NOW!

Sowings made direct to the garden beds will flower and keep going for months.
